Florida Council on Aging Announces Partnership with Florida Insurance Trust

TALLAHASSEE, Florida (May 22, 2009) – The Florida Council on Aging (FCOA) is proud to announce their partnership with the Florida Insurance Trust (FIT). The FIT program is designed to provide cost effective multi-line insurance coverage for the state of Florida’s non-profit social service agencies. FCOA will work in conjunction with FIT to educate their members on the benefits of belonging to the Florida Insurance Trust (FIT). Those benefits include being able to provide customized insurance products and services at substantially lower premiums.

“The Florida Council on Aging is pleased to partner with Florida Insurance Trust,” said FCOA staff. “In these times when every non profit organization is looking for ways to save money, FCOA is searching for resources to assist members with reducing costs.” More information about this organization will be featured in AgeWise, of which they are a sponsor. FIT corporate leaders will also be in attendance at the 2009 Aging Network Conference at the Trade Winds Grand Island in St. Pete Beach.

Florida Insurance Trust is administered by Non-Profit Insurance Services, Inc.(NPIS). For more information regarding FIT, please visit the website: www.floridainsurancetrust.com or contact Kevin Cothron, COO, Non-Profit Insurance Services, Inc. 407-936-2132 (x107) kevin.cothron@npis.com.
